

Recognizing An Outstanding WCC

Ms. Ottamissiah (Missy) Moore BSN RN, WCC, DWC, CHPN

Missy Moore first obtained her WCC® in 2003, followed by her DWC® in 2016. She has served as the President of the NAWCO Board of Directors since 2018. Missy has over 30 years of experience in nursing and healthcare and is currently a Nurse Educator at BridgePoint Healthcare. Missy also shares her passion for educating nurses by providing continuing education and consultation through her company Nursing QI.

Missy is a strong advocate for the international nursing community. She is a 2022-2023 Global Nursing Leadership Institute™ Scholar. Missy was 1 of 30 nurses selected from around the world to participate in the program sponsored by the International Council of Nurses. With her global connections, Missy is invested in helping the international healthcare community learn and develop more modern techniques for wound care.

Throughout her career, Missy has received multiple national awards for her contributions to the healthcare community. In 2017, she was named "Nurse of the Year" by the National Association of Licensed Practical Nurses. In 2012 Missy was awarded the Lillian Kuster Award by the National Association of Licensed Practical Nurses, "Nurse of the Year for Community Service" by the National Black Nurses Association, and "Black Nurse of the Year" by the Greater Washington Black Nurses Association.

NAWCO would like to say "Thank You" to Missy for the amazing work she has done as a nurse, educator, and NAWCO credential holder. She is an outstanding clinician and teacher, and we are honored that she is a part of the NAWCO family. Missy is a fantastic representative of NAWCO and is a true testament to our philosophy that the clinician makes the credential.

If you know an outstanding NAWCO certified clinician, like Missy, who deserves to be celebrated, please take a moment to click HERE and tell us about them. We love to celebrate outstanding clinicians!