

National Alliance of Wound Care and Ostomy®

Jennifer Ty, DNP, APRN, NP-C, FNP-BC, PMHNP-BC, WCC, OMS, LNC, is driven by a powerful ethos: unwavering dedication to "doing the right thing." This commitment is the foundation of her motivation in both healthcare and business, guiding her to provide the highest standard of care and leadership.

Jennifer's journey in healthcare in the US began as a home health nurse and has since evolved to her current role as CEO of one of California's most successful home health agencies, Excell Home Care. She attributes her success not to ruthless business tactics but to her steadfast dedication to excellence and integrity. As Jennifer succinctly puts it, "When you do the right thing, success will come."

Her commitment to doing right by others has helped Jennifer build a thriving empire of "Excell-ence." This includes Excell Home Care, Excell Integrated Medical Group, and Excell MedSpa. Beyond her entrepreneurial ventures, Jennifer is an educator, public speaker, an ANCC item-write for PMHNP, former NCLEX exam item-writing subject matter expert, and an Expert Witness for the CA Board of Nursing.

A passionate advocate for wound care, Jennifer is proud to hold certifications as a WCC® and an OMS®. She earned her WCC® in 2004 and OMS® in 2014. Ensuring that her staff at Excell Home Care are also certified and equipped to provide top-notch wound care is a testament to her dedication. Her mission is clear: to guarantee that patients receive the best care possible, starting with a team of wound-certified clinicians.

Jennifer is not just an exceptional leader but also a great employer who is deeply respected by her staff. Known for her approachability, she ensures that her employees have her cell phone number and can call her for advice on wounds and other patient care issues at any time. Her staff frequently describe her as a great mentor and role model, exuding compassion and dedication in all she does.

Jennifer's influence extends beyond her immediate professional environment. She actively engages with the wider healthcare community, sharing her insights and experiences at conferences and workshops. Her dedication to continuous learning and improvement has made her a sought-after speaker, inspiring countless healthcare professionals to strive for excellence in their own practices.

Additionally, Jennifer's commitment to education and mentorship has a profound impact on the next generation of nurses and healthcare providers. By serving as a mentor and educator, she helps shape the future of healthcare, ensuring that her legacy of doing the right thing continues to thrive in the hands of those she has trained and inspired.

If you know an outstanding WCC® like Jennifer, we want to hear about it! Click here to nominate someone today.